(54) ACCOUNTING SYSTEM AND ITS METHOD

(57)Abstract:

PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED: To provide an accounting system where a portable telephone is used to purchase contents.

SOLUTION: A Web site 10 accessed from a portable telephone 4 requests the portable telephone 4 to provide its authentication information. The portable telephone 4 authenticates the user itself based on the authentication information of the user, transmits the authentication information to the Web site 10, and the Web site 10 urges the user to place an order of contents. When an order- placing button is depressed, the contents information and the authentication information are transmitted to a mobile phone charging server 6. The portable telephone charging server 6 checks the user based on the contents information and the authentication information and transmits purchase OK information to the Web site 10 when the user is a legal user. The Web site 10 provides the contents ordered by the user. The portable telephone accounting server 6 manages the monetary amount of the purchased contents by users and speech charges. Then the portable telephone charging server 6 informs the Web site 10 about the monetary amount of the purchased contents and informs a portable telephone company 8 about the speech charge.
